Cover Falcon: Nicolle Hamlyn's 1964 Futura Sports Coupe

This 1964 Falcon was purchased by George Rakowski in Hollywood, California in October, 1964. Mr. Rakowski owned the car for almost 30 years. He sold it to the family of Nicolle Hamlyn in August, 1994 and it was shipped by truck from California to Niagara Falls, NY where it cleared customs and was driven to Toronto, Ontario, then shipped by truck to St. John's, Newfoundland, finally arriving in September, 1994.

During the winter of 1994, the car was completely disassembled, turned upside-down in a roll cage and blasted underneath and inside the engine compartment. All areas were primed and painted. The dash and interior were painted and all rubber replaced including window, door and trunk rubbers.

NOTE TO ALL MEMBERS: The club will send out notices to each member the month before membership expires. Be sure to send your renewal in early to retain your original membership number. If you do not renew your membership within 90 days after it has expired, your membership number will be placed in the inactive file and will no longer be used by the club.

President's Message

You can really tell the car season is in full swing. Swap meets, car shows and cruises everywhere. Let's get those Falcons out and show everyone what a great club we have. Encourage your local Chapter to plan some FUN Falcon events: meet at the drive-in, cruise through the car hop diners, enter community parades as a group, attend a local barbeque contest. Everything is more fun in a Falcon.

Thanks to the Music City Chapter for a super regional meet and thanks to every one of you who supported their efforts. This June the Sonoma County Falcons for Fun Chapter will be hosting the 8th annual Pacific regional.

Then next month, July 16 - 18, the Mile Hi chapter will be hosting the 19th National Meet. Whatever you do, don't miss this one, it promises to be one of the best ever. Come out and support the efforts of your fellow Falcon Club members. Catch up with old Falcon friends and meet new ones. Use the registration form in this issue to register your Falcons and yourselves.

I would like to congratulate all of the Chapters and the Chapter editors for the fantastic job they are doing on their newsletters. Also thanks to everyone sending in the photos and articles to Wendy for the National Newsletter. Wouldn't you like to see your picture on the cover?

Steve and Carol

Editor's Note:

If you haven't registered for the National Convention yet, do it now! Registration materials and information are included in this issue. The Mile Hi Chapter is planning a spectacular show for us including a new feature, a beautiful mountain cruise for Falcons. Details about the cruise are in this issue and you can sign up at Registration. Don't miss the fun in Breckenridge! Don't forget to look for the famous Falcon shorts...

Thanks to those who have sent photos and stories for the Newsletter. Keep them coming! If you have not seen your car or story yet — Be Patient! Space is limited. Any amount of typing saved by sending copy on disk or using e-mail is greatly appreciated. Please keep in mind that this is basically a volunteer effort and that your Falcon News goes through several stages of preparation, production, printing and mailing before it reaches you.

19th National Convention

July 16 - 18, 1998 — Breckenridge, Colorado
Hosted by the Mile Hi Chapter of the Falcon Club of America

Members of the Mile Hi Chapter are all looking forward to seeing you in Breckenridge very soon! This issue is devoted to making your visit to Breckenridge and the 19th National Convention as fun and interesting as possible.

WEATHER - When packing, be sure to include a light jacket, sweater and long pants. Evenings and mornings can be crisp and cool while midday can get quite warm. The weather can change fast and we want everyone to be comfortable and well-prepared. Don't forget your swim suit for swimming and hot tub relaxation time!

CAR VOTING - A departure from the ordinary this year... The car voting will take place on Friday July 17. This will give the committee some extra time to prepare for the events on Banquet night. Keep this in mind and have your Falcons washed, waxed, shined and polished for the voting on Friday, July 17.

MOUNTAIN CRUISE - A new activity has been added in the form of a mountain cruise that will be held on Saturday morning. The cruise will last from approximately 10 A.M. to 1 P.M.. and will include a scenic and beautiful cruise. The road is paved and will be an easy drive for our Falcons. We will arrive at the Copper Mountain Ski Resort for a free chair lift ride up to a cozy mountain top restaurant for an optional lunch. The Mile Hi Chapter members will guide you. Be sure to bring your cameras and plenty of film for some great photo opportunities. Sign up sheet will be available at the Registration Desk. Join us for this new activity which promises to be exciting and fun.

The Mile Hi Chapter has deliberately chosen to keep the Convention schedule simple since there are so many activities to explore in Breckenridge, Summit County and Colorado. Many attendees are planning extra vacation days to explore the area and enjoy the mountain air. Information about the area and things to do will be available at Registration. The whole family can enjoy such activities as hiking in the National Forest adjacent to the hotel, biking along the river, horseback riding, fishing, whitewater rafting and alpine slide. There are also pools and hot tubs for relaxing as well as golf, tennis, historical tours and Victorian shops.

Hotel information is included on the following page and Registration Forms and Car Class Forms are included on the jacket of this issue.

The Convention Committee would like to invite any Chapter that wishes to sponsor a trophy class to participate by contributing $100. The Chapter name will appear on the trophies. If your Chapter wishes to participate, please send your check to the Mile Hi Chapter via Jim DiZerega, 5217 S. Geneva St., Englewood, CO 80111.

Our hats are off to Janice Brown and Judy Scott, Convention Co-Chairmen for doing a fabulous job organizing this 19th National Convention. It will be one to remember! See you in Colorado!

HORSING AROUND WITH THE MUSTANG SIX

Tech Tips

PART II — CAM AND CARBURETION CHANGE (PLUS A FEW OTHER TRICKS) BRING THE SIX-CYLINDER INTO THE MID 80'S AND LOW 16'S

The relative straightforward and inexpensive modifications up to this point added 35 horsepower to the Mustang six banger. Ak got still another 25 horsepower with additional modifications, some of which were not so common.

Cam Change

At this juncture, Ak decided that because the engine responded so well to minor changes, he would dig a little farther and see what he could come up with in the way of more performance.

"Automatically, our first thoughts were of the camshaft," says Ak, "which in the case of the stock unit is designed strictly for maximum torque and economy. In this area, it just can't be beat. However, the horsepower range comes to a screaming halt at 4000 rpm. And since we were desirous of going on up to 5500 rpm, we installed a special grind. We didn't wish to destroy the inherent smoothness and tractability of the little six or lose the silent hydraulic valve train action. So the specs of our cam were 260° duration, 0.408" lift, 42° overlap, intake opens at 21° BTDC. By comparison, the stock cam has 256° duration, 0.368" lift and 28° overlap."

More Spring Pressure

After changing the cam, Ak had to add a little more spring pressure for the added rpm. He used the valve retainers from a 1962, 260 Ford (part number C20Z-6514-A, 14¢ each). He also used the standard springs from a 289 Ford (part number B6A-6513-A, 45¢ each).

Spring pressure worked out at 90 pounds (valve closed) and 190 pounds open. Installing the cam and springs added 5 horsepower. This made it possible to rev the little six up to 5500 rpm with no hydraulic pump-up. At the same time Ak put the cam in, he also installed pushrods (part number C0DE-6565-B) and adjustable rockers (part number C0DZ-6564-A), from earlier Falcon engines. They are of the same ratio, but give a handy method of adjusting pushrod lengths when changing cams. Ak definitely recommends this change.

Dual Distributor Point Springs

During the test on the cam, Ak noticed that the ignition (in its stock form) was rather unwilling to cope with anything over 5000 rpm since point float was encountered. He cured this situation by adding more point pressure with the installation of dual springs tailored to 36 ounces of tension. This stabilized the points up to our desired goal of 5500 rpm.

Unusual Carburetor Modifications

At this time, Ak felt the little six was crying for more fuel. First off, with some slight modifications, he installed a pair of vacuum controlled, slide-type, side-draft carburetors. (See July, 1967 Hot Rod for details.) They netted a very fine batch of 10 additional horsepower. Ak described it as, "A setup you can stick your foot in anytime and any place. They don't cough, hesitate or spit back . . . they just GO!"

The added carburetion let the engine belt out a solid 115 rear wheel horsepower at 4800 rpm. Translated into a 0-60 time, this amounted to a 9.4-second clocking (or close to a second off the previous time). A trip down the quarter mile netted 81 mph in the low 16-second bracket. And the car was still capable of a consistent 18-20 mpg at normal cruising speeds.

With the carburetion and cam change, the engine still had a more than reasonable idle at a steady 600 rpm, leading Ak to believe this setup could be used nicely with the C-4 automatic transmission.

After running the engine for 1000 miles, or so, Ak tried another carburetor setup: this time four carburetors with 37mm-size venturis. (See July, 1967 Hot Rod for details.) Ak was very interested in finding out what the small carbs would do for horsepower in the lower range. A reading at 2800 rpm netted 75 horsepower at the rear wheels. At 3800 rpm the net was 105 horsepower, and the top of the ladder was reached at 4800 rpm and 125 horsepower. According to Ak, "This proved that our idea on the soundness of this type of carburetion was right. When you jump on the throttle with these little bears, it is just like having fuel injection. It feels like all the horsepower just unloads at once. In driving the car on the road, we found we could still stabilize idling very nicely at around 600 rpm. This smooth idling was something to behold. We did, however, encounter flat spots in the extreme low end of the rpm range. But, after all, when playing around with 5.8 square inches of carburetion on such a small engine, one must learn to expect that all can not be 'peaches and cream'."

Summing Up

Ak described the complete modifications as follows: "The general behavior of the car in normal stop, go, and cruising ranges was a most pleasant surprise. Later tests proved this car to be capable of 84 to 85 mph in the quarter mile. With 4:1 gearing and 27-inch rubber, 5500 rpm could be had at any time, and this is 110 mph. This performance proved more than equal to several versions of the 289 2-V and 4-V jobs that we found willing to try on for size.

"We also tried the 4:1 gearing in conjunction with the four-speed tranny, and our conclusions would be to forget this setup since it wreaks havoc with gas mileage and is certainly not conducive to good smooth road speeds at 70 mph. Instead, stay with the three-speed synchro with the 3.20 rear gear set. As for the remainder of the work, take your pick. It all proved very exciting and rewarding for us since we have always felt that true hot rodding is venturing into the unknown or unusual.

"I have personally gained a tremendous respect for the latest version of the seven-main, six-cylinder engine and sometimes wish one could purchase such a package, call it a GT Six, and add some minor heavy-duty equipment to the chassis. This combination would give a good accounting of itself when compared to many foreign sporty jobs that cost considerably more.

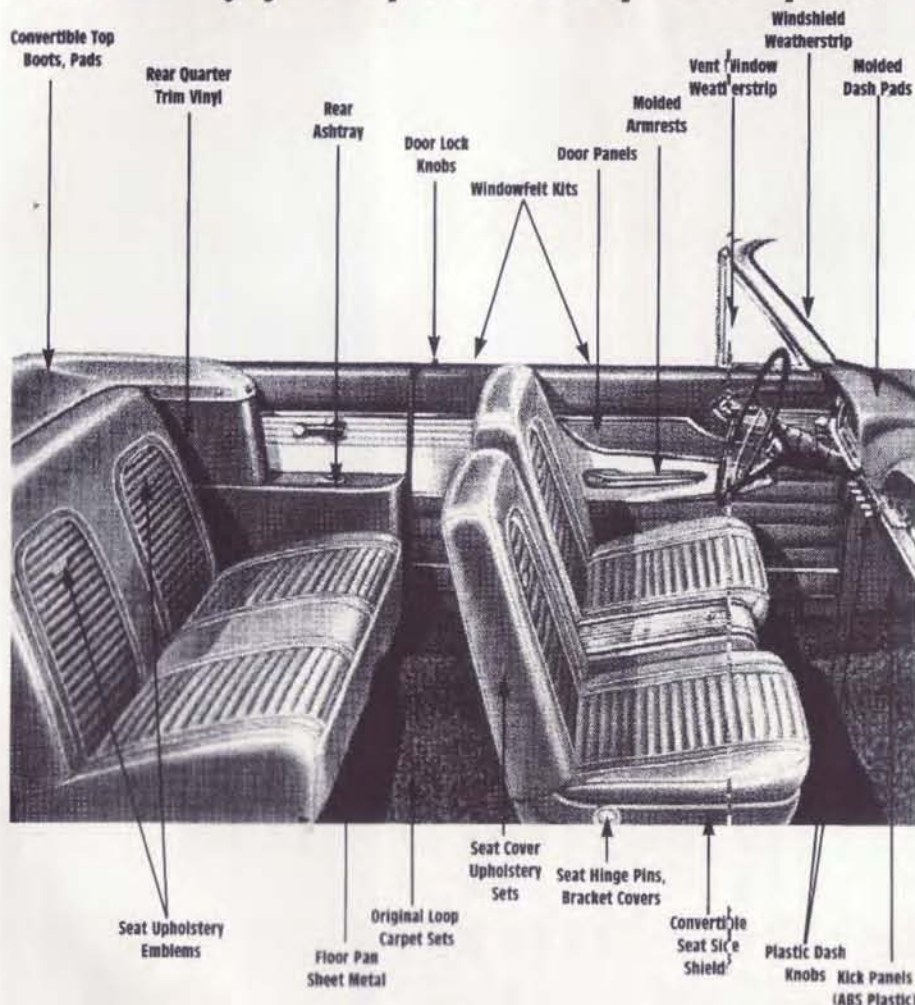

"So as we close our hood and roar off into the setting sun, we can only say come on and join the six-cylinder parade for more fun with less money than you could imagine!"

EDITOR'S NOTE: Some of these modifications may affect the car warranty. If you plan to modify, be sure to discuss it with your Ford or Lincoln-Mercury dealer. And of course, the warranty does not apply to any engine that is used in a "competitive" event, defined in the warranty as: "Competitive events shall be defined as formal or informal time trials, competition with any other vehicle, or any abnormal application of stress to the vehicle or the components thereof in a competitive situation."

Mason Dixon Chapter at Smith Ford
May 20, 1998

This is the Mason Dixon Chapters 15th Year and our 13th to Smith Ford. As always Mr. Smith was a great host. Mr. Smith's wife came to help with cooking the hamburgers and hot dogs which were enjoyed by all. It was a beautiful day for the first time in weeks and we all had a great time. Last minute plans were made for our trip to the All Ford Show at Carlisle, plus our new chapter patches were available for the first time. Also we passed out 15th Year Anniversary dash plaques to all in attendance. Thanks again to Mr. & Mrs. Smith & his staff for a fine day.

Terrell Jubilee Car Show
April, 1998

The Metro Detroit Chapter and Great Lakes Chapter joined forces on May 16, 1998 to attend the Show & Shine Car Show in Jonesville, Michigan. Sixteen Falcons were entered in the show, with three taking home trophies.

On August 15, the Woodward Dream Cruise will take place with over 60,000 classic cars participating! Call Al Potts at 313-274-9179 to reserve parking. You must arrive by 10:00 A.M. to secure your parking spot. Unfortunately, Al neglected to include the location of this fabulous cruise (OOPS!). It is probably in Michigan someplace. Give him a call if you're interested and he will fill you in.

BLACK BEAUTY

Carl Davis of Lauderhill, Florida obtained his 1963 Falcon Sprint in 1983 when his dad died. The car was stored at a dealership for about six years and then was towed to his parents' house where it sat in the open air driveway rusting away throughout his high school and college years.

While he was in college, his mother would call telling him people had come by asking if the Falcon Sprint was for sale. The car was an eyesore sitting in the driveway and his mother wanted it moved. And if that wasn't enough pressure, the homeowner's association had complained about it as well.

His mother told him he could have the money if the car sold and although Carl was tempted by the offer of money, he knew how much the car had meant to his dad and he remembered times they had shared in the car.

Carl writes, "my dad was the most important person in my life and when he died, I figured I could make him live on through the car. I used to sit in the rusted car in the driveway and promise myself and my dad that I wouldn't let the car die." The fact that his family and everyone else told him it was stupid to spend that kind of money restoring the car just added fuel to the fire.

In September of 1994, Carl bought a new home and finally had the car towed there from his mother's driveway.

In February of 1995, with every penny he could gather, he towed the Sprint to a body shop and the restoration process began. What started out as just getting the body work done turned into getting all the chrome done, inside and out. Once that was done, he figured he might as well redo the interior!

To make a long story short, Carl says that what takes most people 10 or 20 years, he accomplished in about a year. Carl says "Although I sometimes think (and my wife reminds me) of all the things I could have done with the money I spent, I wouldn't do anything differently. I love that car more than anything. To help insure that my wife loves the car too, I proposed to her in it, just like my dad proposed to my mom in his Falcon Sprint when they were in high school."

Carl got to see how his Falcon compared to others in July, 1997 when he took it to Falcon Nationals in Orlando. He was pleased and proud to be announced a Class Winner and says, "I am even more motivated to make it the best 1963 Falcon Sprint on the road."

This 1963 Falcon conv. was ordered with factory air-conditing and the 260 V-8. No rust ever. Car is from west Texas and dosen't know what salt is. It's red with a black bench seat. The interior is extremely nice and 100% original. Like new black power top, wire wheel covers. The car runs and drives like a dream. It's not a perfect national show car but it's very beautiful and needs nothing except a new home. I've owned the car for about 6 years and it's time to go. How much? I guess around $9,500 but I'm going to take any reasonable offer, so give it a shot because I want it gone. I live near Chicago and I'll even deliver it to a reasonable distance for expenses. This is a dead-straight rust free beauty. John 815-455-9253 leave message or E-mail me at Rrestore@aol.com.

All engine components (internal and external)
Casting numbers/tags (engines, carbs, distributors)
Accessories (smog, P/S, A/C, belts, fans, pulleys)
Specifications (camshafts, cylinder heads, carbs)
Technical Service Bulletins (Ford & Merc)
Generators & Alternators (ID stampings)
Special Hi-Performance Section (289 HiPo)
Muscle parts (cams, stroking, 351W heads)

Falcon Enthusiasts,

For the first time there is a book which includes complete V8 engine coverage of the 1960s compact Falcon—in fact, it covers all 60s American passenger cars that received the Ford small-block V8. Know what's Falcon and what's not.

So, if you are looking for info on the 1963½ Falcon 260 V8, or Sprint 260 (see photo above), or a 1967 Falcon 289 4V, look no further. And if factory hi-performance is what you're after, it's here.

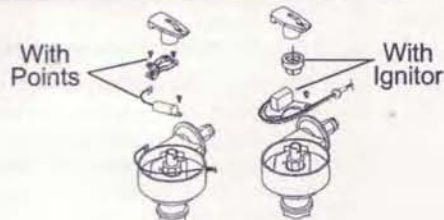

Volume I covers all years starting with the 1962 221 and ending with the 1969 302. Items covered include core engine, valve train, carbs, exhaust, lube, ventilation, generators, ignition & accessories.

Volume II gives details on tags, casting numbers, TSBs, hi-performance options, and more. - Author

By Ray Miller. Introduced in 1959, the Falcon was offered as an inexpensive mode of transportation, claiming "up to 30 miles per gallon!" In the twelve months following its introduction, over half a million had been manufactured. This photographic reference of all Ford Falcons from 1959 to 1970 provides a full Falcon history, and is filled with close-up photographs of each model. Hdbd., 320 pgs., 784 b&w illustrations.

The interior was completely redone with new carpet, upholstery and headliner. The bench seat was replaced with the correct bucket seats and console. The 260 V8 engine, 2 speed auto transmission and 2V carb were all rebuilt. The car was stripped and painted in high solids, primed and finished in Rangoon Red, red DuPont Centari and clear coat. Bumpers were rechromed, all mouldings were buffed, and the hood ornament, crest and emblems all were replaced.

During trips to Carlisle for the flea market, several options have been purchased and added to the car. These include fender skirts, ski rack, rocker mouldings, wire wheel covers, rempote trunk release and power steering. The project was completed and the car made its first showing at the Newfoundland Antique and Classic Car Club's Annual Show in May, 1996.

The car was completely restored by Carl Hamlyn for his daughter Nicolle's graduation. Thanks to Doreen Hamlyn for the photos and story.
